Kerry Kahl Scholarship for the Greece Summer Study Abroad 2018

Application

Applications Due January 31, 5:00pm. The selected student will be announced prior to departure.
Please email your application to cweseuc@uw.edu

Dedicated to our benefactor Kerry Kahl, a longtime University of Washington community member and student supporter, this $1,000 scholarship is offered to financially support participating students in the Greece Summer Study Abroad Program.

The chosen recipient will have demonstrated an outstanding contribution to the Hellenic Studies Program and express a clear commitment to bring the knowledge and experience gained during the study abroad in Greece back to our local community to help heal our own social divisions. That student will be expected to show creative and imaginative skills in the program's stated goal of healing the social divisions between Roma and non-Roma in Greece, and is expected to contribute to the process of reconciliation in a superior way.

Lastly, the student must have shown a unique ability to bridge cultural chasms and help others to find our common gifts as human beings. Priority will be given to students who are historically underrepresented in study abroad programs and/or who demonstrate outstanding financial need.

Please note:

The recipient of this scholarship is required to complete all coursework and be committed to the program, as determined by Program Directors Taso Lagos and Nektaria Klapaki. If a recipient does not complete the work, regardless of reason, they will be required to pay back the funds.

Personal Statement (750 words max)

Please explain how you have demonstrated or will demonstrate an outstanding contribution to the Hellenic Studies and/or Greece Program at UW. Describe how you plan to bring experiences gained in Greece back to our local communities to help heal social divisions. Please also reference any previous experience working with or studying the issues faced by the Roma or other underserved minority group(s). This is also the space to demonstrate financial need, if applicable. Additional pages may be added as needed.
