

SPANISH & PORTUGUESE STUDIES
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

FOOD STUDIES

FOOD THEORY AND PRACTICES

This course provides an introduction to the fast-growing field of Food Studies and showcases the eye-opening potential of a food lens within race studies, gender and sexuality studies, and studies of power dynamics, nationalisms and nation building, theories of embodiment and identity. Students will also learn how to engage premodern and early modern texts while working on the materials of their choice.

SPAN 591

WINTER 2021

2:30-5:20 T

CREDITS: 5

PROFESSOR ANA M. GÓMEZ-BRAVO

AGBRAVO@UW.EDU

SPANPORT.WASHINGTON.EDU