

TRUMP IN THE WORLD

INTERNATIONAL IMPLICATIONS OF THE TRUMP PRESIDENCY

SPRING 2019 LECTURE SERIES

JSIS 478 J – Trump in the World (SLN 21192)

A series of talks and discussions on the international impact of the Trump Administration.
Moderator: Professor Reşat Kasaba, Director of the Jackson School of International Studies

Tuesdays, 4:30-6:20 p.m.

Kane Hall Room 110

University of Washington in Seattle

This lecture series is free and open to students and the public.

The presidency of Donald Trump is having a significant impact on international affairs, global alliances, the U.S. role in the world and on the status and politics of other countries.

In this 2-credit lecture series, faculty at the Jackson School and a U.S. in the World guest lecturer from Northwestern University will explore perspectives ranging from U.S. space policy in the world to Trump and Russia to immigration enforcement and Germany in the spotlight of Trump criticism and more.

Regular attendance is required if you are taking the class for credit. Interested students are also welcome to attend any or all of the lectures without registering for the class.
