

Sharing Our Voices - Sharing Our History

February 27, 2021 9am-12pm

K-8 Social Studies VIRTUAL Conference

Curated by the Washington State Council for the Social Studies (WSSCS)

& Burke Museum

Brought to you by the OER Project

The Virtual Inservice Themes:

- Decolonized instruction & strategies for implementation
- Authentic voices shared by authors in person and in books
- Stories and experiences of all peoples and communities is critical to inclusive instructional practice

Attendees Will Critically

Consider How To:

- Elevate narratives & cultural identities
- Listen to and respect what is valued by each other and in our communities

Details:

- Attendees earn up to 3 clock hours through pdEnroller
- Registration information will be available on the WSSCS website by February 11.
- Virtual conference hosted in Zoom – links provided following registration.

Agenda

Welcoming & Opening

Nancy Lenihan, WSSCS President
Jerry Price, OSPI Director of Social Studies

Session 1

Ghost Boys to Black Brother, Black Brother: Racism, Bias, & Colorism with Jewell Parker Rhodes, author

Session 2

Stop, Collaborate and Listen: Analyzing Content and Centering Indigenous Voices with Burke Museum Educators

Session 3

Teaching Outside the Box: Infusing Indigenous Perspectives into the Classroom with Burke Museum Educators

Session 4

Literature-Centered Presentations presenting authentic voices and lived experiences.

- Asian American Literature to Use in the Classroom for Grades 3-8
- Memorials of Indian Wars: What story do they tell? Examine the disparities between memorials and Native voices
- Latinx voices with Dr. Anna Lees, WWU
- Culturally Responsive Picture Books & Instruction for K-2
- Your Elementary Classroom as a Civics Laboratory