PENDING DESCRIPTION
AES 498  AES SPECIAL TOPICS (I&S)

A 5  MW  130-320  RAI  121  Pinedo-Turnovsky, Carolyn

SPECIAL TOPICS: UNDOCUMENTED IMMIGRANT COMMUNITIES
The politics of migration, citizenship and race are the focal point for this course. In these times, the migrant crisis and others compel us to understand their productive forces and that they are crises of identity and power. This class examines sociologically the concepts of undocumented, citizen, and the structuring of il/legality as they are situated in axes of power, specifically in racialized and gendered contexts. Working with primary and secondary sources, we will learn about experiences across diverse communities, i.e., UndocuLatino, UndocuBlack, UndocuAsian and Pacific Islander, and UndocuQueer. Institutional outcomes in migration, law, labor, carceral spaces, education, and health are areas in social life that may be examined in course materials.

JSIS A 323 U.S. LAT AM RELATNS (I&S)

15630 A 5  MW  930-1120  MEB 248  Freije, Vanessa

Surveys the political, economic, and social dimensions and consequences of United States relations with Latin America during the twentieth century. Topics include empire, immigration, cultural production, covert operations, revolution and counter-insurgency, student movements, human rights, and the war on drugs.

JSIS A 492 LATAM SEM – Borderlands & Violence (I&S)

15647 A 5  Th  1230-320  SAV 140  Lucero, Jose A

Although borderlands are by no means unique sites of violence, they are nevertheless important fault lines along which the friction of globalization has become especially severe. This course pays particular attention to Mexico’s northern border with the United States and southern border with Central America, but situates this view within a broad global frame. Even though borderlands are frequently located at the peripheries of empires and nations, students will explore a number of domains related to borderland concerns: the borders of nation-states; borders of race, gender, sexuality, species, and multiple forms of social difference; the borders of citizenship and law; borders of popular culture; and the longstanding and subjugated borderlands of Indigenous peoples.

Latin American Electives
