SOUTH ASIA
CONFERENCE
OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

The South Asia Center in the Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies at the University of Washington hosts the annual South Asia Conference of the Pacific Northwest (SACPAN).

For over 50 years, SACPAN has been the premier interdisciplinary conference on South Asia in the Pacific Northwest. One of the oldest centers of South Asian migration in North America, the Pacific Northwest is an ideal location for a public conference that promotes a richer understanding of South Asia in global, transnational, cross-border, and transregional contexts.

This event is free and open to the public. For a complete schedule, please visit the South Asia Center's website or follow us on Facebook.
