

JOHN CLINTON WORK IV

4558 7TH AVE NE • SEATTLE • WA • 98105 • 520-561-9357 • WORKJ@UW.EDU

EDUCATION

---

University of Washington PbD Candidate, International Studies, Jackson School of International Studies Major Field: Peace, Violence, and Security (Security Studies) Minor Field: States, Markets, and Societies (Political Economy) Area Focus: East Asia &amp; Korean Studies	2014-Present
University of Chicago Master of Arts, International Relations, Committee on International Relations Major Field: International Relations Theory, Security, and History &amp; International Political Economy Thesis: "From Developmental to Neoliberal: Korea's PTAs and the Channeling of Political Economic Transition"	2013
Boston College Bachelor of Arts, Political Science &amp; Philosophy Major Field: U.S. Foreign Policy in the Middle East &amp; Western Political Philosophy Minor Field: History &amp; Islamic Political Philosophy	2006

GRANTS & FELLOWSHIPS

---

Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowship University of Washington – East Asia Center	2015-2016
Foreign Language and Area Studies Summer Fellowship University of Washington – East Asia Center	Summer 2015
George W. Long Fellowship University of Washington– Jackson School of International Studies	2014-2015
Richard B. Wesley Endowed Ph.D. Fellowship University of Washington, Jackson School of International Studies	2014-2015

RELATED PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

---

International Crisis Group (ICG) Research Assistant	2013-2014 Seoul, Korea
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Researched East Asian security relations; DPRK economic reforms; Sino-DPRK relations; ROK intelligence capabilities; and the cooperative and competitive trends among East Asian space programs, focusing specifically on the Chinese, Japanese, Korean programs.</li><li>• Engaged in daily analysis of regional media reports as well as government press releases, negotiations, and policy pronouncements.</li><li>• Assisted in the research, drafting, and editing of reports for ICG publication.</li><li>• Interviewed personnel within the media, government, NGO, defense, and business community.</li></ul>

Asan Institute of Policy Studies

Rapporteur at 2014 Asan Plenum

April, 2014

Seoul, Korea

- Attended multiple sessions during the plenum, and wrote session sketches for two panels, including “Back to History in East Asia” & “The New Asian Economic Order.”
- Following the plenum, wrote longer, more detailed descriptions of each panel, published in the Asan Plenum 2014-Proceedings.

---

CONFERENCES

---

“Dependent by Choice: Contested Identity in South Korean National Security,”

June, 2015

Paper presented at the Jackson School of International Studies Capstone Workshop

University of Washington, Jackson School of International Studies

---

PUBLICATIONS

---

Work, C., Daniel Pinkston. January, 2016. “New Realities, Old Fears: Escalation on the Korean Peninsula.” The Diplomat

Work, C., Daniel Pinkston. November, 2015. “Moral Hazard and the US-ROK Alliance.” The Diplomat

Work, C., Daniel Pinkston. October, 2015. “Park Geun-hye’s Visit and the US-ROK Alliance.” The Diplomat

Work, Clint. “Non-Traditional Security Issues in North Korea edited by Kyung-ae Park (book review).” Journal of Korean Studies, 20.2 (in press, Fall 2015)

Work, Clint. April, 2015. “Korea and the New Regional Paradigm.” The Diplomat

Work, Clint. November, 2014. “New Asian Economic Order.” Asan Plenum 2014-Proceedings, Asan Institute of Policy Studies

Work, Clint. November, 2014. “Back to History in East Asia.” Asan Plenum 2014-Proceedings, Asan Institute of Policy Studies

Work, C., Stephen Haggard, Daniel Pinkston, and Kevin Stahler. October, 2014. “Interpreting North Korean Missile Tests: When is a Missile just a Missile?” Peterson Institute for International Economics: North Korea: Witness to Transformation

Work, C., Daniel Pinkston. July, 2014. “No Such Thing as a Free Ride? ROK Missile Defense, Regional Missile Defense and OPCON Transfer.” In Pursuit of Peace: International Crisis Group Blog

Work, C., Daniel Pinkston. June, 2014. “U.S.-ROK Alliance Management: OPCON Transition and ISR.” In Pursuit of Peace: International Crisis Group Blog

Work, Clint. July, 2014. “South Korea: Dependence in the Age of OPCON.” The Diplomat

Work, Clint. March, 2014. “North Korea & Human Rights: Tolerating the Intolerable.” The Diplomat

Work, Clint. March, 2014, “East Asia’s Discourse Problem.” The Diplomat

Work, Clint. February, 2014. “Cold War Structures and Tectonic Shifts.” The Diplomat

ACADEMIC HONORS

---

University of Chicago, Graduate with Honors Distinction

2013

Boston College, Dean's List

2002-2006

RELEVANT LANGUAGE & COMPUTER SKILLS

---

- Fluent: English and Spanish
- Intermediate: Korean
- Microsoft Office

REFERENCES

---

Dr. Daniel Pinkston

Visiting research fellow at the Conflict Studies Center, Babes-Bolyai University
Former Senior Analyst and Deputy Project Director, International Crisis Group
Ph.D., International Relations and Pacific Studies, UC San Diego
daniel.pinkston@gmail.com

Dr. Bruce Cumings

Professor in History, University of Chicago
Ph.D., Columbia University
rufus88@uchicago.edu

Dr. Clark Sorensen

Chair of Korean Studies, Jackson School of International Studies, University of Washington
Ph.D., Anthropology, University of Washington
sangok@u.washington.edu