PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The major in International Studies requires approximately two years (6 quarters) to complete, depending on language capability and the number of program courses taken prior to admittance. The coursework consists of approximately 70 credit hours within a general four-year B.A. course of study (180 credits).

The requirements for the major are as follows:

- I. Foreign language competency in a modern foreign language through the end of the second year college level in a language other than English. Students who have no previous foreign language background need 30 credits in a modern foreign language; students with some background need fewer credits. In all cases, continued language study beyond this requirement is strongly advised. The 30 language hours do not count in the core 70 credit hours for the program, but second-year courses can satisfy General Education requirements. Students may elect to take a 2nd year proficiency test or take a placement test into 3rd year of a language in order to verify 2nd year proficiency. Native speakers of languages other than English may see the JSIS adviser about possibly waiving the requirement.
- II. ECON 200 Introduction to Microeconomics (5), and one of the following.
ECON 201 Introduction to Macroeconomics (5) OR JSIS 123 Introduction to Globalization (5), OR JSIS 222 Global Markets (5).
- III. The introductory series in international studies JSIS 200, 201 and 202 investigates the origins and nature of contemporary global economic, political, and cultural interdependence.

JSIS 200 States and Capitalism: The Origins of the Modern Global System (5)
JSIS 201 The Making of the Twenty-first Century (5)
JSIS 202 Cultural Interactions in an Interdependent World (5)
- IV. JSIS B 330 An upper-level course on International Political Economy (5), (See page 9 for list of alternative classes.)
- V. Approved Track: Three courses in an approved track, in which students specialize in a region or country of the world, or in a particular topic of international studies. Approved tracks and their constituent courses are listed on pages 10-28.

NOTE: Some courses are listed on both 'track' and 'core' lists but cannot be double-counted.
- VI. Advanced Topic Core Courses: Three courses from the list of trans-disciplinary core courses in international studies. (See pg. 8.)

CAPSTONE COURSES

- VII. JSIS 495 Task Force, (5), SIS majors seniors only (normally taken winter quarter in final year)

Students conclude their studies in the major in Task Force. Prerequisites: JSIS 200, JSIS 201, JSIS 202, Task Force Policy Memo Workshop-offered in Autumn Quarter before Task Force (JSIS 478J or comparable experience in a course on policy).

Jackson School Task Forces consist of small groups of students, numbering between 12 and 18, who are tasked with investigating a real-world policy issue and producing a final report, which includes a research brief and policy recommendations. These recommendations are then evaluated by a visiting outside expert – typically a serving or retired high-ranking U.S. diplomat, policymaker, NGO leader, or prominent think tank member. Task Force students prepare and present a 2-hour oral briefing for their expert evaluator. The evaluator arrives for the briefing having read the final report. After the briefing the evaluator engages students in discussion and debate and provides feedback on content and presentation. All Task Forces are evaluated on the same day (the last day of teaching for Winter Quarter) and, later that same day, all Task Force students, instructors and evaluators gather for a formal dinner which offers more opportunities for professional conversations and connections.

The Task Force course includes 10 weeks of intense effort, including: background readings prior to the start of winter quarter, scoping a policy challenge, defining and delegating the required research, writing 2-3 drafts of research briefs for your team, and formulating policy recommendations that also include assessments of their political, social, economic costs, benefits, and risks. Task Force teams include 1-2 editors, 1 coordinator, and researchers. All of your research and writing takes place over 8 weeks. Task Force activities can include independent research, interviews of key informants, collaborative writing and decision making, oral presentations, and lots of writing and re-writing on short deadlines. Past generations of International Studies majors have greatly valued the opportunities and the challenges of working together in small groups with clear goals and tight deadlines – an environment intended to mimic the real-world activities and workplace experiences that our students will encounter upon graduation. Task Force quarter has been a unique, memorable and valuable experience for our majors for more than thirty years.

Task Force Website

VIII. JSIS 498 *Readings in International Studies (5), SIS majors seniors only (taken in final year – usually in Spring quarter)

A capstone, senior seminar for undergraduate majors in the International Studies program. These are enrollment capped courses (15-20 students) that are managed/run like a graduate seminar. The goal of the course is to give students a sense of an intellectual lineage or scholarly conversation around a topic or conceptual notion. Faculty select 9-10 books (or the equivalent of a body of work) that reflects the evolution of ideas or debates around concepts or emerging frameworks/explanations. For example, Cabeiri Robinson has taught a course like this on the idea of Political Islam and the emergence of the concept and debates about its meaningfulness and instantiations across disciplines and sectors. Students are asked to read, write, and facilitate discussions as if they are contributing in a graduate seminar.

JSIS 498 is the capstone counterpart to the other capstone required in our major, JSIS 495- Task Force -- while Task Force simulates policy research and briefing experiences, like a US Presidential Commission, JSIS 498 simulates the experience of graduate school and scholarly debates.

Sequence of Courses

The introductory courses, JSIS 200, 201, and 202, may be taken in any order.

The core courses and track courses may be taken at any time in the student's program, but students should plan their programs well ahead so they are able to take the necessary courses in the quarters in which they are offered. (This is particularly critical since not all courses are offered every year.) Some Track courses are offered through other departments, so it is especially important to check with those departments about scheduling for required courses and/or courses of particular interest.

JSIS 498, Readings in International Studies, is usually offered fall, winter and spring quarters and is open to all International Studies seniors. JSIS 495 Task Force is to be taken winter quarter of the senior year. Students must have completed JSIS 200, 201, 202 before taking Task Force.

※ ※ All courses required for the major, including ECON 200, 201, and the two-year language sequence, must be taken for graded credit. A minimum 2.0 grade is required in all Jackson School-prefix courses. ※ ※

Good Standing

Majors in International Studies will be expected to maintain a GPA of at least 2.5, both overall and in the program. A student whose GPA falls below this minimum will be placed on academic probation. A student on academic probation must attain a minimum GPA of 2.75 each subsequent quarter, until the cumulative GPA is raised to 2.5. A student who fails to attain the minimum probation GPA will be dropped from the program. Appeals will be considered in exceptional circumstances.

STUDY ABROAD AND INTERNSHIPS

Study Abroad and internships are optional parts of the program.

Study Abroad

Study abroad can be an important part of the curriculum through which students gain first-hand experience of another culture and further develop their language skills. Information on many study-abroad programs is available in the Office of International Programs and Exchanges, 453 Schmitz Hall (543-9272). You may also visit the UW Foreign Study website at <http://studyabroad.washington.edu/>.

After receiving preliminary information on UW-affiliated programs, interested students should discuss study abroad with their academic adviser in Thomson 111. All programs should be pre-approved before a student goes abroad in order for credit to apply to the International Studies major. This requires that syllabi and other relevant materials be reviewed by the academic adviser. In cases in which such materials are not available before going abroad, students must collect these materials during their stay and submit them to the adviser upon return. In all cases approval of credit for the major is contingent upon review of completed academic work abroad upon the student's return.

Course credit will not be given in place of JSIS 200, 201, 202, Advanced Topic Core, 495 (Task Force), or 498 (Readings) in International Studies. Normally, credit is given toward completion of track and language requirements.

Internships

Internships are an optional part of the International Studies major and provide a means of learning about the application of international affairs knowledge outside of the classroom. Listings of internships are available locally, nationally, and internationally with government agencies, businesses, and non-profit groups. Credit for internships can be obtained only by registering for the credit/no credit internship course, JSIS 497. JSIS 497 credit cannot be used to satisfy major requirements; student who want to apply their internship experience to their major requirements must write a 5-credit independent study research paper (JSIS 499) with a faculty sponsor on a topic related to their internship. All requests for internship credit must be approved in advance by filling out a JSIS 497 internship application form, available in Thomson 111. We strongly encourage students to consider internships for the practical knowledge and skills they impart. The internship in and of itself can be extremely valuable whether or not credit is obtained. For details on internships and careers, see the JSIS website and arrange to meet with our director of career services John Charlton in 124 Thomson (jcharltn@uw.edu)

HONORS PROGRAM

The Honors Program is intended for students with the capability and commitment required to pursue an in-depth research project. The heart of the program is the Honors thesis, to be completed during the senior year.

IS majors should be aware that it can be difficult to incorporate the Honors Program into your course of study and still graduate in four years, especially if you intend to study abroad. If you are seriously considering the Honors Program, it is best to consult Honors adviser Wolf Latsch as soon as possible (latsch@uw.edu)

Honors Admission Requirements

An overall UW GPA of 3.30 and a major GPA of 3.50 is recommended.

Honors Admission Procedure

Students should apply in the autumn of their junior year.

Submit the application form, a writing sample, essay, and transcripts from all colleges you have attended, to the Student Services Office in Thomson 111, all in one packet.

DEADLINE: the third Friday of Autumn Quarter of junior year

(The honors program strongly recommends that JSIS honors students complete JSIS 495 - Task Force in winter quarter of junior year to facilitate writing an honors thesis during winter and spring of the senior year.)

Honors Graduation Requirements

1. Junior Honors Seminar (JSIS 385) taken Spring quarter to choose a faculty adviser and develop a prospectus. Students who complete JSIS 385 and graduate with honors are exempted from taking JSIS 498, Readings in International Studies.
2. Two-quarter Senior thesis writing seminar (JSIS 491-492) Autumn and Winter quarter. (Winter quarter seminar is optional).
3. The thesis is a research project completed under the supervision of one or more professors. It should be a 50-60 page paper, based upon primary sources. Theses are due in the middle of Spring quarter and are read by a committee of faculty members. If yours is recommended for honors, an oral defense will be scheduled for the end of May or early June.

4. Graduation "with Honors in International Studies" (Departmental Honors) or "with College Honors" will be contingent upon the acceptance of the thesis, a successful thesis defense, and a UW GPA of 3.30 and a GPA of 3.50 in all courses required for the major.

JACKSON SCHOOL STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The Jackson School Student Association is a student organization for all students in the Jackson School. Students are automatically a member in the organization by virtue of declaring a Jackson School major. The organization arranges both academic and social gatherings on a regular basis, including brown-bag lunch lectures and more recently a symposium. This is a great way to get to know your JSIS faculty and peers. Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/groups/uwjssa/>. We strongly encourage participation in this organization.

JACKSON SCHOOL JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

The Jackson School Journal is an online and print publication dedicated to profiling the outstanding research and policy writing generated by UW students. <http://globalstudies.washington.edu/jackson-school-journal/>
