

JSIS 578B: Careers & Professional Development in International Studies

Spring Quarter 2019
Wednesdays | 3:30-5:20 p.m. | THO 234
2 Credits – SLN 15602

With the support of The Center for Global Studies, East Asia Center, South Asia Center and Southeast Asia Center, the Jackson School is offering a 2-credit professional development course for graduate students.

This seminar features two practicum sessions from The Center for Leadership and Strategic Thinking at the Foster School of Business to help students identify core values, form leadership narratives, and examine and practice communication skills. Guest speakers from various career fields will present workshops and share their areas of expertise as it relates to employment, networking and career development.

The goal of this course is to help students identify their career interests, develop marketable skills, and search and apply for relevant positions, including fellowships such as Fulbright and Boren.

Grading is Credit/No Credit, and based on class participation, attendance and manageable assignments.
