

TALK PAUL BLANKENSHIP

What difference do housed Christians in Seattle make for people who are homeless?

What difference does homelessness make in the spiritual lives of housed Christians?

Can people of faith, some faith and no faith come together to end homelessness?

WITH PANELISTS:

BEN CURTIS // Operation Nightwatch

KAE EATON // Mental Health Chaplaincy

KELLE BROWN // Plymouth Church

Paul Houston Blankenship will engage these questions.

Paul is a Ph.D. candidate at the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley and a visiting scholar at the University of Washington. The work presented here is included in a forthcoming collected volume to be published by Seattle University's Center for Religious Wisdom & World Affairs and Fordham University Press.

Moderated by JAMES WELLMAN // Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies, University of Washington
