

Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies

The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies is a Recognized Independent Centre of the University of Oxford. It was established in 1985. The Centre provides a meeting point for the Western and Islamic worlds of learning. At Oxford it contributes to the multi-disciplinary and cross-disciplinary study of the Muslim world. Beyond Oxford, its role is strengthened by an international network of academic contacts.

Further information about Visiting Fellowships and the Centre's other academic activities can be obtained from the Centre's website and from the Academic Office:

VISITING FELLOWSHIP IN ISLAMIC FINANCE

Applications are invited for a Visiting Fellowship at the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies, under a Scholar in Residence Programme in Islamic Finance, jointly supported by the Centre and the Securities Commission Malaysia. The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies is a Recognized Independent Centre of the University of Oxford.

Applicants must be specialists in Islamic Finance and/or a closely related discipline, preferably with practical experience of policy-making with an international or comparative component. Applicants must be able to demonstrate competence to conduct independent academic research.

The Visiting Fellow will be expected to conduct research on a topic of contemporary relevance to the field and to participate in a range of academic activities at Oxford. The tenure of the Visiting Fellowship is for one academic year commencing in October.

The Visiting Fellow will have membership of the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies and enjoy full access to its facilities including shared office accommodation. A grant of £10,000 will be made to contribute to the Visiting Fellow's living, travel and incidental research expenses.

For application forms, please visit the Visiting Fellowship section on our website:
www.oxcis.ac.uk

Closing Date

The deadline for the receipt of emailed applications is the third week of January. (Please check website for details.)

Applications

Applications should include the completed application form (downloadable from the website), a curriculum vitae and a brief statement of proposed research. Two letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the Centre.

All of the above should be emailed to the Deputy Registrar, Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies, email: fellowships@oxcis.ac.uk

VISITING FELLOWSHIPS

2018 - 2019

The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies promotes excellence in the study of Islam and Muslim societies. Applications are invited for the following Visiting Fellowships tenable for the 2018-19 academic year. Other non-stipendiary Visiting Fellowships are available for shorter periods and we accept applications on a rolling basis for these throughout the year.

Abdul Aziz Al-Mutawa and Muhammed Bin-Ladin Visiting Fellowships

- Two Visiting Fellowships are offered to support research in any area of the arts, humanities or social sciences that has relevance to the study of Islam or the Muslim world, particularly anthropology, economics, geography, history, international relations, law, literature, philosophy, politics, religion, and sociology.
- Applicants would normally be established academics but scholars or writers at the postdoctoral or equivalent level are also eligible. Each Visiting Fellow is provided a stipend of £5000, shared office accommodation, and membership of the Common Room.

Imam Bukhari and Imam Tirmizi Visiting Research Fellowships

- These Visiting Research Fellowships, open to citizens of countries in Asia or Africa, are intended to encourage interaction among academics from different traditions of learning. Preference will be given to those studying classical Islamic sciences, although other areas in the humanities and social sciences will be considered.
- Each Visiting Research Fellow will be provided shared office accommodation, a stipend of £4000, and membership of the Common Room.

The stipends for both categories of fellowships are intended as a supplementary award and may be held in conjunction with other research grants, stipends, or sabbatical salaries. Visiting Fellows are expected to devote their time to research and writing and to participate in the Centre's academic activities.
