

NEW COURSE | Spring, 2019

Comparative Multi-Sector Entrepreneurship: US and the Middle East

JSIS 487 / 587
Wednesdays, 2:30–4:20
3 credits

Instructor: David Fenner
Email: dmfenner@uw.edu

This course will explore the meaning and potential of multi-sector entrepreneurship as defined and practiced in the US and the Middle East. Case studies involving projects that have economic, social, educational, and often environmental impact will serve as models for teams of students from the UW and a university in the Sultanate of Oman. These teams will utilize educational technologies to work collaboratively to develop broad-impact pilot projects in both regions, drawing throughout the quarter on a growing familiarity with local laws, customs, history, business practices, and government initiatives.

MIDDLE EAST CENTER
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies